Everyone has a Persona (personality), that is, behavioral patterns, emotional responses, and other individual traits that reflect out into the world. For many people what you see is what you get, but most often, internally, you are entirely different from the way you present yourself externally to the world.

At the start, some people have a great Persona! The person makes a terrific first impression, but in good time, proves to be lacking in depth. The person with a large Persona is usually immature or have too little of a specific trait. Without question, once in a while, we all camouflage our true self, hide behind a smokescreen, covering up and protecting what we deem our frailties or what we believe makes us less than perfect.

To calculate your Persona, add together the letters representing the CONSONANTS in your full name at birth, and also the CONSONANTS in the name you are most often known by. My research and observation support the theory that the name you most often identify with is more evident on a daily basis. The 21 consonant letters in the English alphabet are B, C, D, F, G, H, J, K, L, M, N, P, Q, R, S, T, V, X, Z, and usually W and Y.

QUICK AND DIRTY LESSON

Sometimes the letters W and Y are consonants and other times vowels. I.e., if the name begins with Y and the next letter represents a consonant, then the Y represents a vowel. Lynn, Yvonne. If the letter serves as a vowel or sounds like a vowel, Bryan, it is a vowel and almost certainly in the case of names without vowels, i.e., Cyndy, Bryn, Wynn.
